public art installation

My site-specific placemaking projects involves research, stakeholder liaison, council approvals, fabrication specifications, trades supervision and engineering certifications wherever in the world my art is installed